Basin Faucet

« washbasin» is a product with a small volume, suitable for all types of services with different dimensions. In the design of this product, the handle of the tap is designed on the right side, which, in addition to its beauty, also improves its efficiency and has been able to create a unique product. In order to prevent water deposition inside the body and to make it rustproof, brass alloy has been used in the production of the product. With this design, you will no longer see a decrease in the volume of water output. The coating on the body of this model is 16 microns, which is 4 microns higher than the standard, and this shows the quality of the product even more. The Neoperl geyser used in the product is made in Switzerland, and when the water comes out, air is mixed with it, and this process reduces the volume of water consumption by %30. Also, the heart of the valve (a device that opens and closes and mixes hot and cold water) is made by Cedal, Spain. In general, this product is considered a popular model.

Bathroom Faucet

Today, new and modern forms have been welcomed by many engineers and technical people, in the meantime, the «Bathroom faucet» has a suitable face. This valve with a long shape and variable width has introduced a new type of health product format. This relatively heavy product has a locking valve that is located exactly above the shower outlet. By changing the state of this valve, the direction of the water changes. The handle of this faucet is located on the right side and is connected to a Cedal cartridge from Spain, which will mix the water by going up and down. The Swiss Neoperl geyser at the bottom outlet does the job of mixing water with air well. This will significantly reduce water consumption by %30. Nickel-chromium plating up to 16 microns uniformly forms the upper layer of this faucet, which has good resistance against approved chemicals. If you are looking for a modern service, this faucet will complement your taste.
